Organized by FORCE: Upsetting Rape Culture, Hike for Healing is a national day of visibility for survivors. The event raises funds for the Monument Quilt, a collection of survivor’s stories written, painted & stitched on red fabric, which blanket public spaces. The Quilt builds a culture where survivors receive support, not shame. The Quilt resists the narrow narrative about sexual violence by telling many stories. Participate on October 21st to raise $50,000 for the final Monument Quilt display on the National Mall.
